Disclaimer: The Enterprise Administration Professional 2201 (EAEP2201) exam was designed to make pass/fail decisions at the overall exam-level and allow for a summary of section-level performance. The overall pass/fail designation is a representation of the determination of candidates' knowledge, skills, and abilities at the overall exam-level. The section-level information can be considered diagnostic feedback of performance in particular content areas. Although pass/fail decisions were not made based on candidates' individual section-level scores, candidates can interpret the above section-level score information as a guide for future test preparation.
